Dear Bulldog Family:

Queen City ISD, along with all Cass County & Morris County school districts, is extending our closure through May 1, 2020.

The current plan is to return to school on Monday, May 4, 2020.

Please understand, another extension could be necessary, as this remains a very fluid situation.

QCISD began picking up work packets on Friday, March 27th. Students may return packets to the buses as meals are delivered each Friday. There is also a drop box at each campus where parents/students may drop off the work on Fridays. Texas schools are required to continue providing educational services and monitoring student progress during the closures. This is an unprecedented event in all our lives and as such creates fear and anxiety about many things. The district is here to help all our QCISD families with as much as we can during this time. However, we must comply with what is being asked of us. Do not be overwhelmed. Set a schedule to work on a few assignments per day. All QCISD staff members are required to have hours during which they are available. Their job is to help the students with their work and answer any questions they might have. Please reach out to them by phone or email or any other method by which you are accustomed to using to communicate with the teachers.

We are working on processes that involve many aspects of school life. These include but are not limited to grades, graduation, athletic competitions, etc. As soon as we have the details worked out, we will be relaying that information to you. I ask that you, parents and students, continue to do your part, complete your work, reach out if you need help, avoid negative social media activity, and follow the health and safety precautions.

Thank you to our amazing staff who have been working around the clock to get everything organized and delivered to the families of QCISD!

Stay positive and have faith! Stay BULLDOG STRONG in #thecity!
